COL. WALTER D. THURBER, center, receives honorary pin in the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club from President James Wolfe. Congratulating Col. Thurber is Postmaster Charles Louk. The colonel was honored by the club because of the many projects he has developed and guided here for the good of the city.——→

Kiwanis Honor Col. Thurber

Col. Walter D. Thurber was made an honorary member of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club Tuesday — the second time in the club's 31-year history that a local resident has been so honored.

Col. Thurber, introduced by Postmaster Charles Louk, was cited for the activities he has spearheaded here, including the float in the Rose Parade, the Diamond Jubilee and many others.

"He gave freely of himself," said Mr. Louk, "and brought something of value to Sierra Madre."

The Kiwanis pin was put on Col. Thurber's lapel by Club President James Wolfe, who, in a humorous vein, immediately appointed the colonel the club's 14th vice president in charge of "inspiration and aggressiveness."

"It's difficult to say anything at a time like this," said Col. Thurber. "I've had a lot of fun in everything I've done and have been more than repaid by the friends I have made."

Later, Dr. Paul Narcowich, president of the Sierra Madre Coordinating Council, listed the council's accomplishments and urged full cooperation of all groups with the council.

The coordinating group is now engaged in a cleanup campaign in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce.

Hospitalized City Officials on Way To Recovery

Two Sierra Madre city officials in area hospitals were reported in satisfactory condition this week.

Councilman Harold Roberts, who suffered a heart attack more than three weeks ago, is progressing satisfactorily in Huntington Memorial Hospital. He is expected to be released from the hospital Sunday.

City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington, in the Good Samaritan Hospital recuperating from an operation, will be sent home today, barring unforeseen complications.

'Edge of World' Is Film at Library Jan. 20

Next film in the popular Sierra Madre Library series will be "Edge of the World," to be shown Monday night, Jan. 20, in the community room of the library.

There will be two showings—7 and 8:15. There is no admission charge.

"EDGE OF the World" was directed by Michael Powell, director of the film ballet hits "Red Shoes" and "Tales of Hoffman."

It is described as a "classic of the documentary school. This film shows the life of the rugged fisher people who live on a Scottish island in the Shetland group. This is a powerful story of man against the natural forces."

The films for the series are provided by the Los Angeles County Museum, sponsored by the Friends of the Sierra Madre Library, and arranged by Daniel D'Arcy.

ON. FEB. 17, the offering will be "Rembrandt," starring Charles Laughton, Gertrude Lawrence and Elsa Lancaster.

On March 15 (children's matinee) and on March 17, there will be three children's classics: "Palle Alone in the World," "White Mane," and "Georgie and the Dragon."

Freeway Route Will Miss Sierra Madre

Crew Here Finds Lost Boy, 14

A 14-year-old Boy Scout who plunged over a steep cliff onto a ledge near Crystal Lake was rescued last Sunday by search crews from Sierra Madre and Altadena.

The boy, Jerry Sharpen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sharpen of Lakewood, was spotted by John Matthews of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Squad, as he lay curled against a mesquite bush.

Matthews was crawling up a cliff and, possibly by chance, looked back and saw a foot protruding from the ledge. He called for help over his walkie-talkie and the critically injured youth was carried out to safety and taken to the hospital in a helicopter.

THE BOY suffered a fractured jaw, skull fracture, broken leg and exposure from his 18 hours in the 6,800-foot mountain cold.

Jerry went hiking at Crystal Lake with eight other members of his Scout troop and Scoutmaster Kenneth Webb of Lakewood. About 5:30 p.m. Jerry became separated from the group when he said he was going to take a "short cut."

The scoutmaster reported the boy's disappearance to the Crystal Lake Ranger Station about 10 p.m. Saturday. Rangers called the San Dimas Sheriff's office.

...BY MORNING 100 men from other communities had joined the search, including the Altadena Mountaineers, Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Crew and emergency sheriff's reservists from Montrose, Azusa, San Dimas, Sierra Madre and Altadena.

The boy's father reached the search scene and took part in the hunt for several hours, before he became exhausted.

ON THE WAY down the mountain, members of the Sierra Madre squad were informed that a man had been injured while fishing along the West Fork of the San Gabriel River.

Searchers hiked to the spot

Mrs. Maloney Elected Head Of Girl Scouts

Mrs. William W. Maloney, 32 S. Sunnyside, was elected president of the Sierra Madre Girl Scout Assn. at a recent semi-annual luncheon meeting.

Mrs. Maloney started her scouting as a Brownie. She later became a member of the first Mariner Unit in the United States, which was formed in Springfield, Mass., and continued her scouting while attending Vassar.

Other new officers include Mrs. Herbert Hargraves, first vice president; James Abernethy, second vice president; Mrs. Clifford Sweet, secretary; Mrs. Hugh Warriner, treasurer.

Elected to two-year terms on the Council were Mmes. Bernard Tumilty, Charlotte

Mrs. W. W. Maloney

Hand, Walter Richter, Walter Goodwin, Charles Peterson, Milton Valois, Samuel Kirk, James Winslow and Harry MacDonough.

Remaining on the Council for another year are Mmes. Earl Morris, T. E. Dammeyer, Arthur Draeger, William Hippenstiel, Hugh Colvin and Claude Brown.

Mrs. Ted Davey, long active in Sierra Madre Girl Scout work, installed the new officers. The nominating committee included Mmes. Charles James, chairman; Claude Brown, James Winslow, Eric Wittig and Hugh Warriner.

Highway to Run Along Santa Fe

The new Foothill Freeway probably will miss Sierra Madre completely, city councilmen were informed Tuesday night by the State Department of Highways.

The approved freeway route, starting just east of Michillinda, follows approximately the Santa Fe Railroad tracks just north of Colorado Blvd., completely missing Sierra Madre.

Barring last-minute protests, this is the route the freeway will follow. It is expected to be completed in four to five years.

An alternate route, in case the presently approved one is sidetracked, runs down Orange Grove Ave., bisecting Sierra Madre and Arcadia. Use of this route undoubtedly wold be a serious and possibly fatal blow to real estate values in the Arcadia Oaks and adjacent area in this city.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS at Tuesday's Council meeting included:

1. A request by City Refuse Service to change the trash pickup schedule in Sierra Madre. The company will service the city five days a week instead of six, using Saturdays only when holidays during the week make collection necessary on the sixth day.

Residents will receive the same service as previously. The Council, after approving the request, voted to send all residents a new collection schedule.

The change will be effective Feb. 1.

2. THE COUNCIL, after considerable debate, authorized the final payment in full to C & H Contractors, builders of the new swimming pool.

At the last Council meeting, it was voted to assess a penalty against the firm because the pool was not completed on schedule. The firm protested, arguing that the plumbers' strike last summer had delayed work long beyond the 60-day extension granted by the Council. Other delays also occurred, the contractor said, which were unavoidable.

The Council granted the final payment of $13,163 after it was reported that the architect, Robert Ainsworth, recommended payment in full.

3. APPROVED a master tree-planting scheme for city

4. HEARD a written report, prepared by Col. Walter D. Thurber, on Sierra Madre's float in the Rose Parade, previously reported in The Sierra Madre News.

Mayor Charles H. James, who spearheaded the float idea this year, reported that the committee has approximately $250 left over to use next year.

At a meeting last Saturday, he said, the Float Committee decided not to organize a permanent and continuing group. It was felt, Mayor James reported, that a new group should be organized each year, one which would be enthusiastic and have new ideas.

Nursery Programs to Start Jan. 21

Jan. 21 marks the beginning date for the series of programs on "Creative Parenthood," sponsored jointly by the Community Nursery School and Pasadena City College Extended Day.

The first speaker will be Dr. Sydney Lasell, whose topic will be "The Language of Behavior" (what are they trying to tell us when they act that way?)

DR. LASELL is a pediatrician with special training in children's emotional problems. Following his lecture, parents will have an opportunity to ask questions and engage in discussion.

The meeting is open to all parents and other interested persons, whether or not they are members of the Nursery School. It will be held at the Community Nursery School, 701 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 21.

FUTURE DATES for the series are:

Feb. 4, Parents' Panel, "These Are Our Children."
Feb. 18, Dr. Marion Durfee, "The Meaning of Security."
March 4, Leo Buscagio, "Parents Have Their Rights."
March 18, Child Development Panel.
April 1, Motion Picture, "Creative Play."

Commission Outlines Needs of New Pool

Sierra Madre's new swimming pool, which up to the present has cost approximately $90,000, probably will involve the expenditure of several more thousand dollars before it can be opened next summer.

The Recreation Commission, which met Jan. 8, reported that immediate needs include:

One life guard station, signs for rules and regulations, two cash registers, one life buoy rope, float separators between the deep and shallow end, a lobby partition or turnstile, receptacles for cigaret butts, a desk, telephone, cot, blankets and first aid kit.

THE POOL hours, as reported by Dave Sommers, a member of the Recreation Commission, will be from 1 to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday; 12 noon to 7 p.m., Saturday, and 1 to 6 p.m., Sundays and holidays.

Swimming instructions should be given during the morning hours, Sommers reported. Mrs. Nathan Jacobs moved that Mr. Sommers' suggestions be adopted. The motion carried.

Suggested rates, but not adopted, are 20 cents for children under 12; 35 cents for children 13 through 18, and 50 cents for adults.

Employes needed at the pool include two life guards, one of whom would be the assistant manager, a male checker, two girl checkers and two cashiers.

Several ideas were discussed by commission members on ways to raise money at the pool, excluding the admittance fees. Among them were bathing cap and towel rentals and comb and hair oil dispensers.

THE POOL may be opened at Easter time, according to Sommers, who pointed out that this date is common practice in other communities.

The early opening, however, must await the installation of a pool heater. A total of $2,300 has been pledged toward the heater so far, about $400 short.

Further decisions about the pool and other recreation problems will be made at the next committee meeting Jan. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

John Kinard Heads Area Cement Firm

Garner A. Beckett, chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Cement Corp., announced the election of John M. Kinard, 1185 Pine Bluff, Pasadena, as president of the Riverside Cement Co., a division of the newly formed American Cement Corp.

Kinard was employed by the Riverside Cement in 1950 as economic advisor to the president. In 1954 he was appointed general manager, and two years later was elected vice president and general manager.

Kinard was graduated from Harvard University with highest honors in 1948, and served as a member of the business school faculty for two years before joining the Riverside organization. He is a member of the California Club, the University Club, Honold Library and has been active in Los Angeles Community Chest campaign work.

Riverside Cement, one of the oldest companies in California, recently merged with Peerless and Hercules to form American Cement Corp.

FLOAT PICTURES

Photographs of Sierra Madre's prize-winning float, either in color or in black and white, may be obtained through the City Hall, it was announced yesterday. The pictures of the float were taken by Bert Embree.

Library Here Has Course In Reading

Sierra Madreans interested in learning to read faster, and with increased comprehension, are being offered a speed-reading course by the Sierra Madre Library.

The classes, to meet each Tuesday night for about 18 weeks, are tentatively scheduled to begin Feb. 4. Anyone interested may sign up at the library circulation desk. A group of approximately 25 is required.

THE COURSE is offered free, without scholastic credit, by the Pasadena Junior College District, as part of its adult education program. Students must be at least 18 years old.

The reading course is sponsored by the Friends of the Library and is being arranged by Librarian Marie Wald. The teacher will be J. R. Hurley, a counselor at John Marshall High School.

Students will be tested at the beginning of the course, and again at the end to record their progress. It is usual for students who supplement class work with practice at home to double or even triple their reading rate, according to Mr. Hurley.

ALSO UNDER consideration for the new year at the library is a children's art class, a children's art exhibit in June, and the possibility of acquiring a set of framed art reproductions that could be borrowed from the library on the same basis as books and records.

The library staff invites reactions to these plans, as well as suggestions for other uses of the library.

Current exhibit in the library gallery is a one-man show of oil paintings by Flintridge artist Bentley Schaad, a graduate of the Los Angeles Art Center. Mr. Schaad is a painting instructor at the Los Angeles Art Institute.

Marine Enlistment Booth Open In Post Office

A Marine Corps recruiting booth will be open in the Sierra Madre Post Office Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with S/Sgt. Teddy Yoesting in charge.

Sgt. Yoesting will interview all men between the ages of 17 and 26 who wish to join the Marine Corps for two, three or four-year enlistments, including, if desired, assignment in an aviation school.

The Marines also have a new 120-day delay program, which means you can enlist now and wait up to 120 days before reporting for active duty.

Christenson Wins Art Show Prize

John Christenson, 231 W. Montecito, has received an honorable mention in the 27th annual Graphic Arts and Drawing Exhibition at the Wichita Art Museum, Wichita, Kan. Christenson had a lithograph in the show.

Other artists from this area who won honorable mentions in the national show include Leonard Edmondson and Hilda Levy.

Know Your School Is Theme of PTA Meet

"Know Your School" will be the theme of the regular monthly meeting of the Sierra Madre Elementary PTA Monday, Jan. 20, at 8 p.m. in the Sierra Madre School Auditorium.

With Mrs. Clark T. Casey, PTA school education chairman, as moderator, a panel discussion will be carried on by Dr. Lowell Jackson, superintendent of schools; Edward Hawkins, Sierra Madre School principal; Miss Betty Newton, Sierra Mesa School principal, and John Kellner, John Marshall Junior High vice principal.

They will discuss the type of education offered by the Sierra Madre elementary schools. A question and answer period will follow the panel.

Second-grade teachers and parents will hostess during the social hour following the meeting.

AT ITS LAST regular meeting, the Sierra Madre PTA Executive Board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Anthony Briglio as paper drive chairman and ratified the appointment of James Abernethy to replace her. The next paper drive was set for early February, depending upon the availability of the used paper dealer.

Over 500 gifts were sent to children in the communicable diseases ward, L.A. County Hospital, by children of Sierra Madre and the Sierra Madre schools.

James Dunnagan, co-chairman of Ways and Means Committee, reported on early plans for the PTA Bazaarnival (combination of carnival and bazaar) Saturday, May 10, from 12 noon to 6:30 p.m. on the Sierra Madre schoolgrounds. A special bazaar booth will be set up this year to be stocked with handmade articles contributed by PTA members.

The next planned activity of the PTA will be a fashion show, "Cherry Blossom Festival." This will be a special fund-raising project to be held at the Altadena Town and Country Club on March 1. Mmes. Bert Menne and George Fleming will co-chairman the project.

Civic Club Treats Toy Loan Group

Birthday treats for all members of the Toy Loan will be given out at the regular hours, 2 to 5 p.m., at the Toy Loan building in the City Park on Tuesday, Jan. 21, and Thursday, Jan. 23.

A new membership contest has been scheduled to run from Jan. 21 to Feb. 13. The boy and girl bringing in the greatest number of new members will receive a gift certificate for a toy, according to Mrs. Virginia Vine, Toy Loan chairman.

Square Dancing Classes Begin Here Soon

New adult square dance classes are now being planned, according to the Pasadena Department of Recreation. Instructors

The beginners class will be held at the Benjamin Franklin School, 527 Ventura St., Altadena, and will start Tuesday, Jan. 28, from 8 to 10:30 p.m.

The intermediate class will be held at the Eugene Field School, 3600 Sierra Madre Blvd., Pasadena. This class will be held every Thursday starting Jan. 30.

NOW ONLY a large vacant field, Victory Park will soon be the home of a new high school. Future students of the school are, from left, Renie Miller, Janet Burpee and Molly Redlon.

Drunk Driving Charges Dropped In Local Case

Charges of driving while drunk were dismissed against Kenneth Moyer, 46 N. Mountain Trail, Monday in Pasadena Municipal Court.

Moyer was arrested by Officers Keith Bassett and Ira Alcon Dec. 25 while on his way home in Sierra Madre.

The case was dismissed by the prosecuting attorney after it was determined that Moyer's blood alcohol content was far below the amount associated with drunk driving. He was represented by Newell Barrett, a Sierra Madre attorney with offices in Pasadena.

Lesson in Kerala

Far away, in the Indian state of Kerala, is a lesson for Americans in our continuing struggle with the Communists.

The Communist Party has been governing the state for the past nine months, and, in the words of the Christian Science Monitor, aspects of their program "read like a brochure by a chamber of commerce anxious to attract new business."

It's difficult for Americans, with their high standard of living, to understand how a free people could elect Communists to govern them. But to people like those in Kerala, who have been immersed in poverty for decades, a full belly means more than the promise of individual liberty sometime in the distant future.

THE COMMUNISTS understand this. Frequently we in the United States don't.

In Kerala, the Communists have concentrated on establishing an administrative record on which they can stand for reelection in 1962.

They have banned eviction of tenants and have started a program of distributing government land to the landless. They have framed a land reform bill fixing a ceiling of 15 acres of paddy land and 30 acres of dry land on land ownership.

They have set up many more fair-price food shops than the previous administration, shops which sell grain at cheap prices to families with incomes under 200 rupees ($40) a month.

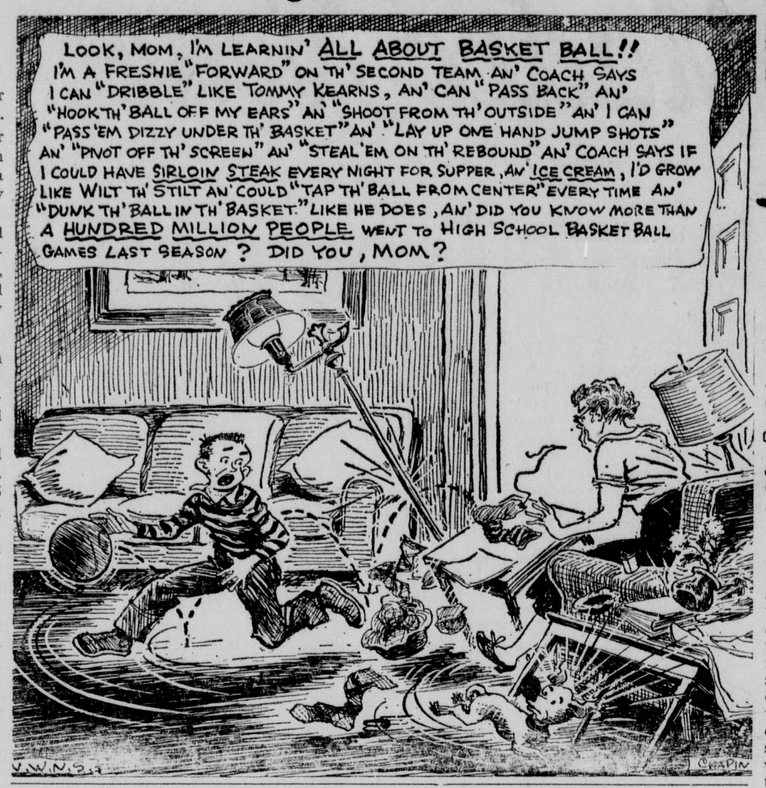

We may find comfort on the words of the Communist chief minister in Kerala, E. M. S. Namboodiripad, when he told a visiting journalist that the general principles of his party remain the same.

"WHEREVER there is an opportunity to carry out any part of our program we should carry it out immediately," he said. "We can carry out much more if we are in the government than if we were out."

This indicates clearly that the Communist Party, even in Kerala, is still Red. But it's doubtful whether the vast bulk of the citizens of that state care so long as their living standards are improved.

More grain is a cheap way to gain the allegiance of an impoverished people. Much cheaper, in fact, than the manufacture of more atomic bombs.—H.W.E.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

The once-sedate U.S. State Dept. is now panhandling with a tin cup American business firms to help underwrite the American participation next year in the Brussels World Fair in Belgium.

* * *

At the last session of Congress the State Dept., which now has a world fair department set up, wheedled Congress out of $12,345,000, although it had requested $15,000,000 to participate in this Belgian event.

C. W. Harder

* * *

And, as usual, whenever public money is wanted for any purpose, no matter how sound, the argument advanced was that this was a step in winning the cold war with Russia. Somehow, it was felt, that by the U.S. showing its vast technological superiority over Russia, the free peoples would be encouraged to stand up straight, those on the fence would be influenced to favor the American way.

* * *

Of course, Sputnik and Muttnik kind of exploded this line of reasoning, but Howard Cullman, U.S. Commissioner to the fair, is still using this line of reasoning as he approaches American business enterprises with the tin cup for donations.

* * *

But most interesting of all is the reason why more money than what Congress appropriated is necessary.

* * *

Out of the over $12,000,000 voted by Congress, the Belgian government took half of it for taxes and insurance. This was done despite the fact that U.S. funds to the tune of over $5 million were expended to build a pavilion, a theater and landscape the grounds around the American exhibit. Undoubtedly, the lion's share of this money found its way into pockets of Belgian workers and thence into coffers of Belgian businessmen.

* * *

Thus, once again, the State Dept. has made a patsy out of the American taxpayer.

* * *

Now, woefully short of funds to pay staff salaries, performers, guides and ushers, the State Dept. is asking private companies to pony up for the deficit.

* * *

In exchange, State Dept. promises to give firms wide publicity.

* * *

Needless to say, few companies can afford such a heavy expense, and those that can will naturally take a tax deduction on contributions. So, once more, average U.S. taxpayer will be found making up difference.

* * *

Thus, there is witnessed one more muddle well muddled by your State Dept. in action. It is small wonder members of Congress are getting restless with the constant bumbling in this branch of the government. Perhaps in a recent letter to his constituents, Sen. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania expressed a majority sentiment of Congress.

* * *

Sen. Clark said, We should make major changes in our State Dept., including the resignation of the present Secretary of State; Foreign Service appointments should be on the basis of capability and experience instead of political contributions . . . and there should be an immediate review of our intelligence evaluation set-up."

* * *

In other words, the Senator is merely highlighting a remark often heard in Washington.

* * *

This comment is "operation of both the State Dept. and the American intelligence service is getting duller and duller."

Your Congressman . . .

'Mending Fences' Can Be Long, Exhausting Task

By Edgar W. Hiestand, Rep., 21st District

BACK TO WORK—Newspapers are publicizing that Congress has "returned to work," a phrase implying that Congressmen don't do anything between late summer, when the House adjourns, and the first week in January.

This is to dispel that impression.

I kept some notes during the last six weeks we were in Southern California. My travels around the district alone covered 2,800 miles, or equal to the distance between Los Angeles and Washington.

OF COURSE our congressional district is approximately twice as large as all of the other 11 congressional districts in Los Angeles County put together, so it takes a lot of traveling just to get to the people I represent. But travel is only part of the job.

During the last two weeks of November I had 17 speaking engagements, and during December I had 36, making a total of 53. The averare report ran about 30 minutes, which means that more than one full day, or 26½ hours, was devoted to public speaking. Most of the talks were followed by question periods from the groups, which ranged in size from as small as 10 to as large as 500. There was also a Sunday night half-hour television appearance.

Besides these speaking engagements there were numerous conferences with groups of all kinds in all parts of the district, chiefly on various federal problems which had them worried. Subjects included watershed protection, flood control, forest fires, unemployment in the aircraft industry, missile work, small business contracts, union matters and others.

I managed to spend one full day at Edwards Air Force Base and another full day at the U.S.A.F. Plant 42 facility in Palmdale going over the problems each faces and reviewing the work done at these sites. These inspections were among the highlights of our stay in California.

IN ADDITION, I visited at least 15 of our post offices to discuss ways of improving mail services and to see if the postmasters had any problems which could be solved through our local or Washington offices. In three instances I made nominations of acting or permanent postmasters.

There were also ceremonies to be attended, ribbons to be cut, plaques to be presented, and memorial services to be attended.

After the disastrous Angeles National Forest fire I was able to see from a helicopter what damage had been done to the watershed. Congressman Pat Hillings, who represents the adjacent 25th Congressional District, was aboard on this tour which gave us additional facts to present to Congress this winter when Forest Service appropriations come up.

Scores of people visited our Foothill and San Fernando Valley offices, and I was able to interview many concerning their problems and ideas. Some matters will require legislation to be introduced. Others can be taken care of through administrative offices in Washington. These latter include such matters as immigration, citizenship, civil service, veterans' affairs, Army, Navy and Air Force "hardships," and other personal cases. Some of the 65 young men who have applied for appointments to the service academies also came by for interviews.

DURING THIS whole period many hundreds of letters had to be answered. These required dictation to the staffs in the district offices and in Washington. Often the answers were routine, but occasionally they took considerable research, investigation and telephoning to persons in California or in Washington to get the needed facts. Especially difficult were those cases involving contract changes which forced industrial layoffs and job cutbacks affecting one plant or a whole industry.

In listing all of these activities I am by no means complaining. I am doing so merely to break down illusions that Congressmen are idle during recess.

Actually the experiences were wonderful. Receptions were first rate everywhere. Even the weather was superb, with only two bad days during the whole season. Would that some of California's sunshine could now be brought to Washington, where as this is written the mercury is scheduled to drop to 12 degrees.

Dems Suffering Acute Case of 'Deweyitis'

By Robert G. Spivack

THE STATE OF THE UNION—If the Democrats are as smart as they think they are, they better run scared in this year's elections. That's the message I get from President Eisenhower's State of the Union message.

Ever since Sputnik soared up into outer space, Democrats of all political colorations have been acting as if they were dealing with a dead administration. When the President suffered his stroke, many spoke as if the 1958 elections were in the bag and that it might even be a waste of time to hold them.

After the fiasco at Cape Canaveral, which Sen. Kefauver calls "Cape Carnival," the realists were telling us that a Democratic victory in November is a foregone conclusion.

Overconfidence and underestimating your opponent is an old political malady. As Tom Dewey had occasion to learn in 1948 it can be fatal. Right now the Democrats, I think, are suffering an acute case of Deweyitis.

* * *

THE REACTION to the President's speech was pretty much along party lines as was to be expected. The Republicans, almost to a man, called it "great" and his "finest." Some Democrats called it a funeral oration and an apology for past errors.

Looking at it from a less partisan viewpoint, my own reaction is that it was an extremely effective address and one that may be long remembered by television-conscious America. It was the gallant effort of a man who has been stricken three times in five years. It was straightforward and while critics may pick at this point or that, the public response was bound to be affirmative.

What too many partisans forget is that most Americans don't think of themselves as either Democrats or Republicans. They think of themselves as Americans. When their pride is hurt, as it was by Sputnik, or when they are told the country is in danger, they will respond to the call of their Commander-in-Chief. The President's State of the Union message was such a call.

It was an appeal to the emotions—the decent emotions of the people. As such it was bound to bring out the best in people. I have never seen the President in better form, at a moment when pessimism and gloom was the prevailing mood.

* * *

IKE HOLDS THE CARDS—Lyndon Johnson escorted the President into the House chamber as if he were the host and the President his personal guest. Only two days earlier Johnson had delivered his own "State of the Union message," outlining in broad terms what he felt we are up against in the fight to conquer outer space. We are told there is a "new Johnson" and his remarks did have a certain eloquence, even if they were vague on details.

But what happened?

While Johnson was trying to tell the nation that the "Texas leadership" in Congress was able to look beyond the interests of Big Oil his colleague and mentor, House Speaker Rayburn, was passing the word along that he would give priority to passage of the Natural Gas bill.

This was hardly a demonstration of the "sense of urgency" for which Adlai Stevenson and others have been calling.

Eisenhower, in his delivery, and his ghost-writers, in the words they put in his mouth, seemed to sense this Democratic dilemma. So the president took many of the good ideas the liberal Democrats have been voicing and embodied them in the text of his remarks. Where does this leave the Democrats, except to back him up?

* * *

THE PRESIDENT has been called all sorts of names, all of which add up to saying he has been a big zero. He certainly can't be absolved of responsibility for a share for the current "mess in Washington."

But the Democrats would do well to recognize that Ike has developed from a skillful military tactician into a skillful political tactician. You might call it political judo. The method is to use the enemy's strength against the enemy and for your own needs. If the Democrats don't recognize that, they are in for some surprises in the months ahead.

Lee Shippey asks
What Do You Think?

Having been born in the Middle West, I can never cease to marvel at the close proximity of different climates in California. Once when our children were small my wife was gathering roses and ripe oranges in our yard in Sierra Madre when the children noticed that snow seemed to be falling on Mt. Wilson.

Immediately we set out for Orchard Camp and when we got there the kids had a fine time snowballing me—winter and summer within walking distance for young children.

Here in Del Mar we never have frost on the edge of the ocean, though at times there is skim ice a mile back. So this week we are eating lettuce from our own back yard and last week we planted string beans in open ground.

* * *

YES, WE ARE planting some garden, partly to keep down weeds and partly as our little protest against the steadily rising cost of living. Everybody talks about that but very few do anything about it.

When I was a boy every family in my suburb—in which there was no such thing as an apartment house—had a kitchen garden and a root cellar. Many families not only had vegetables from their own gardens all summer, but crammed the root cellars with potatoes, onions, cabbage, turnips, squash, apples and other things to last all winter.

I don't know any deep freeze which enables anyone to be as independent of the cost of living as those families were.

MY GRANDMOTHER used to say that wherever a weed would grow a tomato would grow so we had more tomatoes than we could eat, can or give away. My father's garden was behind a hedge of sweet peas and won more praises from visitors than the lawn did—for I mowed the lawn.

I believe if even 20 per cent of us today had kitchen gardens and well-cared for fruit trees we would be better off financially, physically and spiritually, for Mother Earth has rich rewards of knowledge and inspiration for those who treat her well.

The man-made gopher holes infesting Mountain Trail probably will be filled in this week as the job of re-lining the ancient leaky water pipes nears completion. While the main pipe was shut off during the cementing process, homes were watered by a maze of small by-pass lines.

Drivers exhibited real skill as they threaded their way through the diggings—one sedan made several running starts in order to negotiate an especially tricky corner.

BARE CUPBOARDS—An appeal for clothing has been voiced by the American Friends Service Committee who report that for the first time in their history, an overseas shipment was postponed due to a lack of donations.

The Friends do an heroic job of distributing clothing, bedding, school and sewing supplies and soap throughout the world to needy people, D.P. camps and disaster areas. This year they hope to fulfill a quota of 100,000 pounds of material aids—with 12,000 lbs. as February's goal.

THE S.M. Search and Rescue crew was kept hopping Sunday—from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m. First, they rescued a critically injured 15-year-youth who had fallen from an 80-foot cliff at Crystal Lake. En route home, they answered a second call and carried a fisherman with a shattered kneecap to safety.

"Echo," a young Weimariner dog trained for use in rescue work by owners, Miner and Diane Harkness, joined the crew for her first official tracking stint—a real initiation since they covered over 10 miles of rugged mountain territory.

Around and About . . .

Wood, Taormina Artist, Knew Peace and Plenty

By Edward L. Voorhees

My French window and its balcony at the Hotel Diodoro in Taormina faced the rising sun (for six successive sunny March days!) over the blue Ionian sea, faced the crescent bay below the town, and, beyond the town the 20-mile east to west slopes and snowy peak of mighty Etna, externally quiet for the moment, after a spectacular eruption of several days, less than two weeks before my arrival.

Signor Bambara, affable and likable owner of the hotel, who spoke fluent and grammatical English, gave much friendly help in answering my questions concerning the various changes in Taormina since my second visit there, in 1929.

HE WAS particularly helpful in bringing me up to date concerning two American artists whose acquaintance I had made on my first visit, in 1926, one a painter, the other a composer. It was in the late 1890's that Charles Wood, a young traveling art student from Trenton, N. J., turned up in Taormina, to see the sights and do some sketching. After his finished, he stayed on and on, and having a good eye for form, color, and "atmosphere," as well as a facile brush, he was by now selling his 12-inch by 16-inch oil sketches to tourists and residents as fast as he could make them, and for a good price.

With the proceeds he at length acquired the abandoned 600-year-old Convento Carmine, a romantic dream of a structure in a setting of cypresses, nook-and-corner gardens, balconies, and terraces, all surrounded by a crumbling stone wall with iron grill gates, with an empty and unused 16 Century baroque church as nearest neighbor.

His tourist customers sent others, and these, still others, and "Carlo" Wood, as the natives now called him, knew peace and plenty in his work.

A CONFIRMED bachelor, Carlo was generous and friendly with his good fortune, gave work to local artisans, had frequent guests in for lunch or dinner of luscious Sicilian dishes prepared and served by Amelita, his buxum and smiling cook and housekeeper.

And during the course of each year he would turn over the large refectory to the local orchestra of artisans and clerks for their benefit concerts, one of which I attended and heard a Metropolitan tenor.

So it came about that the young traveling artist who came for a week, remained for near half a century!

Such is Taormina's spell—and Carlo wove it visably into "atmospheric" scenes on canvas that doubtless carried Taormina's beauty as he saw it, to almost every longitude and latitude of earth. He had the good fortune to die peacefully in his bed, old and full of years, just before the British and/or American bombers of World War II came over Taormina, with malice aforethought—but that is another story.

Letter to the Editor

DREAMER

We in Sierra Madre, as well as in other cities, I presume, have so much good to do that we rarely have time to stop and wonder whether our efforts aren't in vain.

We have the Lions, the Kiwanis, the Civic Club, the Community Chest, Red Cross, Cancer Drive, Heart Fund and innumerable others—all trying madly to do good even if we, as members, get ulcers and succumb to an early grave for our pains.

Well, to further complicate matters, I suggest the formation of still another club, open to all kindred hearts, regardless of race, color creed or previous condition of servitude.

This club will have no purpose except to have a good time. Members may, if they wish, dance all night, sing ribald songs, play bridge or chess, shoot crap, read in a corner or just simply get drunk. Duels with sabers or pistols will also be permitted.

In order to insure the safety of more conventional citizens, the club will meet only once per year. Then after the frustrations of 12 long months are released in unrestrained singing, we can all march proudly off and do good for yet another year.

Yours truely,
J. PUMPHREY PASHTON

VILLA VIEWS

By Toni Maurin
SY 7-9634

I was reading an article the other day referring to the things children used to do in the good old days and it suddenly brought to mind one of my favorite pleasures as a child. Do you remember the penny candy stores? The joy and anxiety of decision?

As I look back now I know those candy store operators and owners must have been made kind of special to have been able to tolerate the shrieking voices and the interminable waiting as their pint-sized customers vacillated between marshmallow bananas, jaw breakers, red hots, licorice whips, licorice sticks, or some of the other fascinating offerings of a finger-smudged showcase.

The decision never came easy regardless of how many times you patronized the store and the thrill never lessened in all of the years. I wonder if our children will remember with the same sentiment the sanitary, sterilized, celophane wrapped goodies that grace the counters in almost any type of store you care to mention. I know, too, that it tasted better than the kind they make today.

MR. AND MRS. Sam Matloff of 1590 Old House Road had a family dinner party last week to honor their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Matloff, on their first wedding anniversary. It also served as a bon voyage party as the young Matloffs left Tuesday by air for a three-week tour of Europe.

The party was nostalgic due to the fact that they burned a candle saved from their wedding, and had wedding cake from just a year ago that had been kept safe in the freezer. Mrs. Matloff told me they have enough left to go for several more anniversaries. The guests included Mrs. Clinton Campbell, her son, Cal, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hodgkins.

SCOTT WILLIAMS, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Williams of 2935 Lindaloa Lane, was honored by his neighborhood friends at a birthday luncheon party last Saturday. The party decorations featured clowns and a circus motif. Among the guests were Debbie and Wendy Opp, Debbie Moore, Dicky and Nancy Hale, Connie Rucks, Robin Miedema, Mitchie Evans, Johnny and Tickie Joyce, and his older brother, Randy Williams.

MR. AND MRS. John Chapman of 1595 Old House Road gave a bon voyage cocktail party to honor Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Mueller who are leaving the 17th by air for a two-week trip to Honolulu. Among the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Joseph Philipson, George Clark, Charles Goldsworthy, Aikman Armstrong, Ernest Maurin and Dr. and Mrs. Clete Dorsey.

THE ENTIRE hill has shown a great deal of interest in the new modern Chinese home that has been recently completed at 1135 Sierra Madre Villa. It was built by Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Warnick. Mrs. Warnick has been working on this plan for a long time and has designed most of the features in the house herself.

They have five children, Jerry, their 20-year old son, is in New Zealand at the present doing mission work for the Morman Church. He will be gone for 2½ years. They have at home Judy, 16; David, 14; Susan, 9, and Bobby, who is 6 years old. Mr. Warnick is a CPA and partner in the Alne, Warnick and Mayhew firm on Colorado, which specializes in tax and cost accounting. Their home has been well initiated by several parties. She told me they are having a small dinner party on the 17th for a birthday club to which they belong. There will be 30 guests.

ALSO IN the new neighbor department: Dr. and Mrs. Carroll L. Schuster have moved into their home at 1253 Sierra Madre Villa.

ST. RITA'S BRIDGE circle met recently in the home of Mrs. Blanche Burmeister, 334 Camillo, for an Oriental luncheon and bridge session. Mrs. Edwin Auger was co-hostess. Seated, from left, Mrs. Burmeister, Mrs. Leo Babich, Mrs. Harry MacDonough, Mrs. Milton Morningstar, Mrs. James Austera, Mrs. Charles Weber, Mrs. Ethel Schwartz and Mrs. Frank Casso. Standing, from left, Mrs. Auger, Mrs. Lloyd Erickson, Mrs. Earl Schneider, Mrs. Lewis Lampi and Mrs. Warren Marshall.

Karen O'Donnell Marks Birthday

Karen O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. O'Donnell, 1185 Michillinda, celebrated her third birthday anniversary last Saturday at an afternoon party.

The young guests arrived at the O'Donnell home for refreshments and then went to the park where games were played.

Taking part in the festivities were Joan and Susan Donald, Joan Crook, Paula Uebbing, Kathleen Quinlan and the guest of honor's sister and brother, Katie and Eddie.

Bridge Club Has Oriental Luncheon Party

Oriental decorations throughout the house and garden were a surprise for members of the St. Francis Bridge Circle, when they met for their monthly benebit party at the home of Mrs. Blanche Burmeister, 334 Camillo Rd.

Mrs. Burmeister and her assistant hostess, Mrs. Edwin Auger, greeted guests in costume and served an oriental luncheon.

YOSEMITE HOLIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Lawson, 1220 Rexford, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Jack Follmer, 1190 Tropical, arrived home last Sunday from a week's stay at Yosemite National Park, where they enjoyed skiing and other winter sports.

Hastings Teen Times

HAVE YOU heard that Upper Hastings and Riviera are "going to the dogs?" There are at least three families with new additons to their households—canines.

The Neal Rowleys on Daveric have a cute puppy and we welcomed "Pamper" to our house. He is a miniature French poodle and lots of fun.

The Andy Fakases on Cartwright also have a new playmate for the kids, but there's quite a story in it. Mr. Fakas had made arrangements to get a tiny toy shepherd, but on Christmas Eve Irene Guttman appeared at their doorway wih a huge 125-pound dog (which actually is my uncle's pet—Mr. Charles Dudas on Cynthia). Mr. Fakas wasn't home and Mrs. Fakas was busy with Christmas Eve preparations, so her brother answered the door.

When he saw Irene with the big dog he called Mrs. Fakas:

"You better come here and handle this!"

Well, a five-minute conversation followed, and of course all this time Mrs. Fakas was determined not to let Irene or the "pet" get in the house. Finally my folks and I rescued Irene (and Mrs. Fakas, too) by wishing them a Merry Christmas. I never saw anyone more relieved in my life than Mrs. Fakas, when she saw it was just some neighborly fun.

GROUND-BREAKING Day took place recently for the new Pasadena High School which will be located on Sierra Madre Blvd., near Victory Park. Many of the teen agers from our area took part in the ceremony. Bands played, the kids sang school songs and had a lot of fun. They hope to finish the school in late '59 or early '60. Everyone is awaiting the opening of the school, which will cost about $4,000,000. It will have a beautiful administration building, classroom buildings, a drama building, a canteen and bookstore.

I HOPE all students at Marshall will help support their senior class by buying tickets to the senior class movie, "Three Coins in a Fountain." Admission is only 40 cents to this delightful picture. It's open to the public, so get your friends and neighbors interested, too.

Money from the movie will help pay for your annual and the senior prom. If money is left after these expenses it will be for the school. So you see, it's for a worthy cause. If you're interested, please call me. Oh! Oh I almost forgot the date and time: Friday, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Marshall Auditorium.

'Pinata' Is Highlight of Dance Party

The spacious Surree Ellen Lane home in Altadena of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Riffenburgh was the scene of the first party of 1958 of the Hastings Ranch Dance Club. The party had a Mexican theme carried out in costume of the guests, food and decorations.

Breaking of a bright "pinata" filled with candles was a highlight of the evening. Party planners were the Riffenburghs, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hurtig and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bush.

Enjoying the event were Mr. and Mrs. Don Alsop, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Boden, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buttcone, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Caldecott, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. John Fricke, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Draper Jennings.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Karl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pooler, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lubisich, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Saurenman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Steffens, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Straitiff, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Whited, Mr. and Mrs. David Zinsmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bickle and Mr. and Mrs. William Pankey.

PALM SPRINGS VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. L. Brewster Benedict, 1000 Pepperhill Dr., enjoyed a three-day visit at Palm Springs.

CF Guild Meeting Wednesday

Members of Hastings Ranch Guild of Cystic Fibrosis will meet next Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Gordon K. Wright, 1075 Valley View, at 7:45 p.m. for their regular monthly meeting.

Members from both the group's workshops, the Sierra Workshop and Hastings Workshop, will be invited to attend. Co-hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Dominic F. Giangregorio, Mrs. Elmer E. Swanson, Mrs. John D. Boldemann and Mrs. C. Don Hays.

Following a meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. Kenneth W. Christianson, the program chairman, Mrs. Harold W. Leffingwell, will introduce Mary Gordon of TWA, who will present "Tips on Traveling."

Also to be discussed at the meeting are plans for the group's annual luncheon and fashion show, "Spring Frolic," slated for March 6 in the ballroom at Huntington-Sheraton Hotel.

Mrs. Giangregorio, general chairman for the event, has announced the fashions will be presented by Ohrbach's. One of the highlights of the affair will be the awarding of a Russian white fox wrap to some lucky person.

Lee Cronks 'Skippers' Of Voyagers

Voyagers of Trinity Presbyterian Church, a couples' club, have elected Mr. and Mrs Lee Cronk as "skippers" to lead their club during 1958.

Others holding office are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Scholtz, "first mates;" Mr. and Mrs. Ward Clark, "pursers," and Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Scharer, "logkeepers."

Voyagers held their first meeting of the new year with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Les Duttons as hosts.

AOPi Meeting At Smith Home

Alpha Omicron Pi Pasadena Alumnae held a dessert meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Ralph W. Smith, 601 Madre St., with a business session and a "white elephant" sale highlighting the event.

Mrs. William R. Knight, hostess chairman, was assisted by Mrs. George Northrop. Mrs. Frank G. Wheeler, president, led the meeting.

Mrs. Ayres Has Mosaic Table At Design Show

Mrs. Charles Ayres, Hastings Ranch artist, has a mosaic and walnut coffee table in the California Design Show now at the Pasadena Art Museum through Feb. 23.

The show opened Sunday, presented under a grant by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, and includes furniture and art objects representative of a number of well-known artist-craftsmen of the area.

The table was designed and the mosaic work done by Mrs. Ayres, with construction by Charles Dana. The show may be seen from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on other days.

At the conclusion of the show, the exhibit will be sent on a U.S. tour.

Art Reilly Heads Local Demo Club

Arthur M. Reilly, an attorney, 1035 Riviera Dr., is new president of the Hastings Ranch Democratic Club, succeeding Michael Nothman.

He was elected last week, just prior to the departure of the club's six delegates to the Fresno convention of the California Democratic Council when the CDC endorsed a slate of state candidates.

Also elected were Paul Goldsmith, first vice president; Michael Stolzberg, second vice president; Mrs. Ruth Sharpe, recording secretary, and Mrs. Isobel Goldsmith, corresponding secretary.

Attending the Fresno convention were Mr. and Mrs. Nothman, Jack McKenna, Robert Milling, Dr. Dores Sharpe and Allen Snyder.

Candidates endorsed by the CDC are headed by Attorney General Pat Brown for governor; Rep. Clair Engle for U.S. senator; former assemblyman Glenn Anderson for lieutenant governor; Superior Court Judge Stanley Mosk for attorney general; Alan Cranston for state controller; Bert Betts for state treasurer, and Henry Lopez for secretary of state.

Judge Mosk and Lopez were among candidates who attended a recent Democratic dinner in Sierra Madre to make their bid for support of local Democrats.

ARROWHEAD VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Baker, 1335 N. Michillinda, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Halperin, 1490 Old House Rd., have returned from a week's holiday at Arrowhead Lake.

Victory Park School Gets Official Sendoff

A big sign marks Victory Park now, for all to see, explaining that here is the site of the new Pasadena High School. Students cheered and officials beamed and made speeches as ground-breaking ceremonies were held last week after years of controversy over the school's location.

Seven ceremonial shovels and a shiny yellow bulldozer were used to break ground to mark the opening of construction. The school is to be open for classes in September, 1959.

Piloting the big bulldozer were Mrs. Gladiss Edwards, PHS principal, who said the day was one of "thanksgiving;" Dr. Stuart E. Marsee, acting superintendent of Pasadena schools, and Steve Salisian, president of the Board of Education.

MARSEE OPENED the ceremonies at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, calling the groundbreaking a "milestone of education in Pasadena," and introduced many officials, members of the school board, Mayor Seth Miller and other city directors, as well as Dr. John W. Harbeson, retired, a former principal of PHS.

Other speakers were Mrs. Ruth Crowl, former president of the PTA at the high school, as a representative of parent groups, and Dick Helgerson, PHS student body president.

Dr. T. Ross Paden, executive secretary of the Pasadena Council of Churches, gave the invocation, saying that the new high school should "equip its students for constructive participation in the on-going life of our community and the world."

Leveling and other ground work is expected to be completed early this summer and erection of the buildings will then start. However, taxpayers may look for new bond measures to complete the facilities at the school, because since the money was voted, prices have risen and some has been spent on improvements at other schools.

THE MONEY available at present does not include enough for athletic facilities, an auditorium, cafeteria and other improvements, but will provide classrooms so that school may open there in 1959, officials say.

The school is the largest single construction project in the history of the Pasadena schools. The new PHS student body will be formed from the 11th and 12th graders now in attendance at the PHS-PCC campus and 10th graders now attending McKinley, Marshall and Wilon Junior High Schools. More than 3,000 students are to be in the school within a year after it opens.

Trinity Sets Annual Meeting

The second half of the 10th annual congregational meeting of Trinity Presbyterian Church will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Church business and an inspirational film are scheduled. Dessert will be served.

Don Benito PTA to Hear Holling Clancy Holling

Holling Clancy Holling, well-known writer and illustrator of more than a dozen books for children, will be the guest speaker at the Jan. 22 meeting of the Don Benito Parent-Teacher Association at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Mrs (Lucille) Holling, co-illustrator, will accompany her husband. Mr. Holling will tell about his personal adventures that are the background of his dramatic story telling techniques.

Some of these experiences include that of a taxidermist, a sailor on the Great Lakes and his education in art and anthropology. His hobbies and amusements of the use of primitive artifacts, implements, weapons, woodcraft, the study of wild life, travels in the wilderness and research into the ways of primitive man have contributed greatly in the preparation of his books.

ALL THE Holling books teach geography, nature study and history as the story develops. The action parts of the books are fiction but the atmosphere surrounding them is authentic.

The books are captivating because of their unusual story content, "Pagoo," the Hollings' newest book, is the fascinating story of a hermit crab and his existence in "Tide-Pool Town."

The book describes the complete life cycle of the hermit crab and takes young readers underwater and give them an appreciation of a world little known to them. The book is the result of three years of careful research on marine biology and first-hand observations of the hermit crab.

Other books in the famous Holling series are "Paddle-to-the-Sea." "Tree in the Trail," "Seabird" and "Minn of the Mississippi." These books are famous for their color illustrations. The many accurate and elaborate marginal drawings illustrating industry, wild life and history of the regions involved in the unfolding adventure have always been popular with his young readers.

A BOOK display will feature all the Holling books as well as over two dozen other books for children selected for their appeal and interest to elementary school children. Mrs. John Eggleston, library chairman, is in charge and the evening's theme is "A New Look at Children's Books."

A short but important business meeting will precede the program, Mrs. John Ranks, president, presiding. The PTA membership will elect the nominating committee which will select the slate of officers for the 1958-59 term of office.

Refreshments will be served by room representatives from Mrs. Frances Hastings' third grade, Mrs. Robert L. Fisher, and Miss Jo Ann Wright's first grade, Mrs. David H. Allen.

HOLLING CLANCY HOLLING shows members of the Don Benito PTA his latest book for children, "Pagoo," the story of a hermit crab in "Tide-Pool Town." Mr. Holling will speak before the PTA at 8 p.m. Jan. 22 in the school auditorium. Seated are Mrs. John Ranks, PTA president; Mr. Holling, Miss Grace McFarland, principal of Don Benito. Standing are Vilma Potter, PTA program chairman, and Mrs. Lucille Holling, illustrator for her husband's books.

Assessors Canvassing Area Now

Taxpayers may now file annual property statements with the deputy assessors who are currently canvassing this area, County Assessor John R. Quinn announced yesterday.

If they are not at home when the deputy calls, they may file this statement at any one of the 79 branch offices throughout the county. A doorknob notice is left by the deputy assessor at each home when the resident is not in, and this notice lists all 79 branches.

For the convenience of residents of this area, a branch office of the county assessor is located at City Hall, Sierra Madre, and will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, starting Jan. 21 until April 22.

Taxpayers may also, when filing property statements, make their annual claims for the veteran or church exemptions at any of these branches. Property statements and claims for the veteran or church exemption must be filed by the last Monday in May, Assessor Quinn cautioned.

FLOWER SHOW STARS—J. Awdry Armstrong, left, executive chairman of the California International Flower and Garden Show, and William A. Rodman, general manager, crown Miss Doris Hancock the Bird of Paradise Princess for event to be held from March 14 to 23, at Hollywood Park, Inglewood.

FREEWAY STUDY

The State Division of Highways announces that it has completed engineering and economic studies regarding the location of the Foothill Freeway from approximately 1,500 feet east of Michillinda in Arcadia to Grand Ave. near La Verne.

Mrs. Fanny Lacey Celebrates 81st Birthday

Mrs. Fanny Lacey, 260 W. Highland, celebrated her 81st birthday anniversary on New Year's Day at a family reunion in the Pasadena home of her daughter, Mrs. June Eastwood, 2753 Mataro.

The guests included all eight of Mrs. Lacey's children, Margaret Frederick, Frances Dawson and Mrs. Eastwood of Pasadena, Florence Kerney of Ramona, Birda Lacey of El Paso, Tex., Lucille Waite of Econdido, Herbert Lacey of Monrovia and Alma Spargur of Sierra Madre.

Also in attendance were eight grandchildren, six great-granchildren and two nieces, Carmie Tinnon and Belle Arnett of Santa Barbara.

RANCH VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Quinlan, former residents of 1250 Tropical, now making their home in New York City, were recent houseguests of the Maurice J. Sullivan family, 1255 Tropical.

Settled at Last, the Bums To Play on Wrigley Grass

ODE TO THE BUMS

Let's ponder the fate of Walter O'Malley,
Whose Dodgers may have to play in the alley.
And why this horrible state of affairs,
When thousands clamor to sample his wares.

It all came about when the hamlet of Brooklyn
Could find no place big enough to play in.
So local sportsmen and politicians galore
Beat a steady path to O'Malley's door.

With pleading and begging and domestic intrigue
They said, "Live with us. We're major league.
Come now. Build a park without mortgage or lien.
You can have that old dump called Chavez Ravine."

But never before had a piece of land
Been worth so much to the common man.
So stadia large and stadia small
Were checked with the hopes of playing ball.

Untrue to the claim that they were all true blue
Angelinos wanted their cake and to eat it too.
All efforts to play in L.A. were spurned
So O'Malley to Pasadena turned.

Our officials and citizens rallied with thanks,
Except for a few on Arroyo's west banks.
The Rose Bowl—resplendent for New Year's game,
Couldn't possibly be used other times, was their claim.

L.A. for years has wanted the fame
That comes from the best in our national game.
O'Malley has moved—the Dodgers are here.
But so far have gotten a kick in the rear.

Who knows what the final story will be
When history records for all to see.
How the selfish and deceitful were finally hushed
After giving the Dodgers the old bums rush.

Good Soil Mixture Can Make a 'Green Thumb'

Just what is a "green thumb"? It definitely is not luck or magic, cautions the California Association of Nurserymen. A "green thumb" is the first digit on the hand of someone who has learned what it takes to make plants happy.

One prime necessity for plant health and happiness is a soil mixture appropriate to the type of plant being cared for. This is especially important for indoor potted plants which are unable to spread their roots into nearby ground to get added nourishment.

Plants which are selected in nurseries are planted in soils which have been prepared to proven formulas. Those gardeners who wish to arrange their own planters would be wise to adopt similar formulas.

PHILODENDRONS, so popular with modern indoor gardeners, and similar tropical plants usually take best to a balanced soil mixture consisting of two parts sandy soil, one part peat moss, one part sterilized leaf mold and one-half part well-rotted manure.

For that popular flower, the Poinsettia, the experts recommend a formula containing six parts of sandy soil to each part of well-rotted manure.

The universally popular African Violet has been most successfully raised in a soil mixture made up wholly of leaf mold and peat moss: two parts sterilized leaf mold to each part of peat moss.

Local nurserymen will be glad to advise on the best sort of soil mixture of any plants selected which are unsuited to the formulas listed.

One other important factor, the container, should be mentioned in connection with the potting of house plants. Because the plants are entirely dependent upon the soil in one container, the indoor gardener must be sure that the pot or container is large enough for the plant to thrive for some time to come.

ROSES, FLOWERING trees and shrubs, shade trees, berry vines, grape vines and strawberries can all be planted now. Major landscape improvements can be made easily at this favorable time.

Don't wait until the end of the bare root season to pick your favorite of the new roses. Many will be in short supply because of high demand.

If you have an uncultivated area you wish to cover temporarily, broadcast wild flower seeds around. The winter rains will establish them.

If your older shrubs are beginning to outgrow the space you had assigned to them, now is a good time to rearrange the garden.

New Drugs Effective in Rheumatic Fever Treatment

(Presented as a public service by the Foothill Branch of the Los Angeles County Medical Association)

Rheumatic fever is one of the most common serious diseases in America today, yet it remains one of the least understood.

It is a disease affecting primarily the young—between the ages of 5 and 15 being the most common. Over three-fourths of initial attacks occur before the age of 30. It is not a contagious disease, although the streptococcus attack which precedes it is highly contagious. While some families have been shown to have a marked pre-disposition to rheumatic fever, it is not truly an hereditary disease.

Preceding each case of rheumatic fever there is a sore throat or tonsilitis—and in each instance the agent causing the sore throat is a streptococcus, a pus-forming bacteria. Only 8 to 6 per cent of strep sore throats, however, lead to rheumatic fever.

THE USUAL course of the disease begins with the throat infection which may last from a few days to two weeks, during which the patient has a high fever, a painful throat, possibly weakness and abdominal pain, and a rash. Following this there is apparent complete recovery for a period of from 10 to 30 days, a latent period that ends with a sudden onset of fever. This is the beginning of the rheumatic fever itself.

The patient is weak, easily fatigued. There may be rash; often nose bleeding and swellings under the skin. Usually the larger joints—the knees, elbows, hips, shoulders, ankles and wrists—are variously affected in what is called a migratory acute arthritis. This is an arthritis with inflammation that jumps from joint to joint with no particular pattern. Although the arthritis is intense during the course of the illness, damage is seldon permanent.

The heart is of primary consideration in this disease inasmuch as it can be permanently damaged, although this is more likely to happen from subsequent attacks of rheumatic fever rather than following the first one.

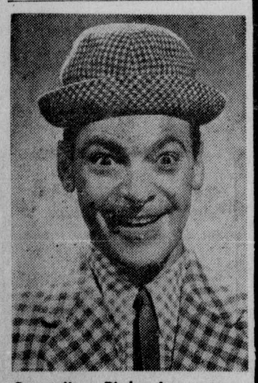

Treatment of rheumatic fever is a difficult problem even though the streptococcus which led to the illness has been eradicated. The strep throat which preceded the rheumatic fever was caused by the germ, but the rheumatic fever developed, for some reason, because of the patients's reaction to the streptococcus. This may sound like the germ caused the rheumatic fever. It didn't—it merely triggered the illness in some mysterious manner.

TREATMENT HAS two main objectives—elimination of the symptoms of acute rheumatic fever and prevention of damage to the heart. Today's medical care has several remarkably effective drugs at its command—ACTH, cortisone, aspirin and, in recent years, certain hormones.

The primary medical problem is to recognize the possibility or existence of rheumatic fever early and to begin adequate treatment promptly. Quick attention to a strep throat infection can prevent subsequent rheumatic fever in 96 per cent of the cases.

Prevention of recurrence of rheumatic fever is an important prophylactic measure, but to achieve this it is necessary that a constant course of antibiotics over a long period of time be rigidly followed.

One sure way to size up a man is to get acquainted with the company he keeps.

Students Speak At DAR Meeting In Sierra Madre

American Field Service Foreign Exchange students are on the agenda for the regular monthly meeting of Sierra Madre chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday, Jan. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Park House in Sierra Madre.

One of the speakers will be Kenneth Veronda, San Marino High School, who participated in the summer program living with a foster family in Spain. Kenneth Veronda was the recipient of the state DAR award ROTC medal given by the chapter in 1956 to the outstanding senior cadet at Southwestern Military Academy.

Sharing the program will be Karen Bassford, recently returned from a 6½-month stay in New Zealand. Karen attended school while there and was one of 24 young people sent to New Zealand on an experimental school program.

Those interested in the program are invited to attend as guests of Sierra Madre Chapter. Please call Mrs. Al S. Myers, ELgin 5-9635, for reservations.

An important business meeting will follow the program at which time delegates and alternates will be selected for the state conference to be held Feb. 25-28 in Los Angeles at the Statler Hotel marking the 50th annual conference.

Mrs. Edwin R. Wileman will be hostess for the evening assisted by the regent, Mrs. Forrest Bassford, and Miss Karen Bassford. Refreshments will feature a typical New Zealand tea.

VISITS PARENTS

Lee Parks Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee B. Parks, has returned to the Southwestern Military Academy in San Marino after spending the holidays with his family at 449 W. Orange Grove Ave.

... Social and Club Activities ...

A SCENE SIMILAR to this is in evidence every Friday morning at the Sierra Madre Park where children play and their mothers observe as part of an adult education program under the direction of the Pasadena City Schools. Tuition-free classes for mothers and pre-school children are conducted from 9 to 11 o'clock Fridays and offer a variety of activities within the framework of a nursery school curriculum. The program also provides opportunities for individual talks with the two teachers in charge as well as for group discussions. The program is under the guidance of Mrs. Nada Burket, SYcamore 4-7381, and Mrs. Barbara T. Berry, SYcamore 7-2367. Mothers of pre-school youngsters are invited to visit the "play group morning." Shown above, seated, are Mrs. Charles Wacker, Mrs. John Merusinge, Mrs. Richard Patterson and Mrs. Robert Rudolph. Standing are Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Burket.

Valentines To Be Theme Luncheon

Women's Auxiliary to the San Gabriel Valley Pharmaceutical Assn. will present a luncheon and fashion show at Altadena Town and Country Club on Feb. 5.

The fashion show, "Heart's Desire Parade," will be presented by Ginny's of Altadena. Spring fashions and the latest in attractive hats will be featured.

Mrs. Wallace Ewing, Mrs. Charles Sturges and Mrs. Joseph Cralego are in charge of arrangements. Proceeds will go toward the organization's scholarship fund which was established for deserving students in the San Gabriel Valley who desire to study pharmacy.

The decoration theme will be "Valentines" with shades of reds and pinks being used. Mrs. George Fox, decoration chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Eugene Elson, Mrs. Frederick Wallace, Mrs. Charles Sturges, Mrs. Alvin McCown, Mrs. William McCurdy and Mrs. J. Hubert.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. William Pruitt, chairman, at EDgewood 2-9392, or her assistants, Mrs. L. D. Mott, SYcamore 4-8775, and Mrs. Norman Tepper, HIllcrest 7-4844, through Feb. 1.

Luncheon will be served at 11:30 and the public is invited.

Cub Pack 381 To Meet Friday

Cub Scout Pack 381 will meet Friday, Jan. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium with Bert Embree, cubmaster presiding. All parents are urged to attend this important meeting with their scout.

During Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7-14, a display of handicrafts will be shown in Garland Dry Goods window.

Club Activities . . .

Tade Sztuka to Appear At Local Woman's Club

Reciprocity Day will be observed by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club Wednesday, Jan. 22, with a 12 o'clock luncheon at the clubhouse. Guests will include presidents of clubs from Glendora to Sunland along the Foothill area.

Highlight of the event will be the appearance of the noted Polish-American tenor, Tade Sztuka, with "Highlights From Comedy and Opera."

Sztuka, Columbia recording artist, was educated at the University of Antwerp, Belgium. He has appeared on radio, television, the concert stage and in the opera singing Halka, Pagliacci, Fledermaus and Gypsy Baron. Although Sztuka was born in the United States, he was educated in Poland.

This special event is open to guests. Reservations for the luncheon meeting must be made with Mrs. Franco, ELgin 5-9766, by Monday, Jan. 20, according to Mrs. Charles Tye, program chairman.

RUMMAGE SALES

Rummage sales seem to be the order of the day and very successful, too, judging by the recent one put on by the VFW Ladies Auxiliary.

The American Legion Auxiliary plans one for Friday and Saturday, Jan. 17 and 18, at 27 N. Baldwin.

The Pasadena-San Gabriel Valley Unit of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Nurses will hold its big sale Saturday, Jan. 18, at 40 S. Fair Oaks, Pasadena, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds from the Catholic nurses sale will go toward their student nurse scholarship fund.

ARTS AND LETTERS

The National Society of Arts and Letters will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 21, at the Pasadena Public Library with Mrs. Anita Baicher, president, in charge.

An unusual program is being planned with guest artist, Terrence Dilts, 12-year-old pianist, winner of the 1955 Search for Talent junior sweepstakes award. Terrence will present an all-classical program including selections from Beethoven, Chopin and Albeniz, according to Mrs. Florence Tompkins, program chairman.

Speaker for the afternoon will be Dr. James Butler, lecturer and drama chairman at USC. He will present a slide-lecture on drama in modern Greece.

* * *

MU PHI EPSILON

Guest of honor at the Jan. 16 meeting of the Pasadena area alumnae chapter, Mu Phi Epsilon, will be Miss Rosalie Specials, national first vice president. The meeting will be at 11 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Dewey Seeman, 2945 Lorain Rd., San Marino.

This will be the biennial inspection visit of Miss Specials, national officer of all the collegiate and alumnae chapters in this area.

Co-hostesses for the luncheon will be Mmes. John Palzel, Charles Gabriel and George Stannard. A musical program will be presented by Marion Bridgmen, flutist, and Adrienne Laufman, piano accompanist.

* * *

LEGION AUXILIARY

The unit meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Val Miller, child welfare chairman, who reported on Christmas community activities. Gifts totaling $60 were given to 17 children of veterans.

New plans included a donation to the March of Dimes and plans for a rummage sale Friday and Saturday at 27 N. Baldwin. Members at ELgin 5-0036 and ELgin 5-6400 may be contacted for clothing pickup.

Dates on the auxiliary calendar include the 18th district meeting, Monday, Jan. 20, in Monterey Park; district past presidents meeting on Jan. 24 in Alhambra, with a pot-luck dinner and social evening; and the next unit meeting Jan. 23 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Bent, 700 Skyland Dr., with Mrs. Wayne Beisel as co-hostess.

TRI DELTA

Delta Delta Delta alumnae of the Pasadena area will convene for their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 20 at the home of Mrs. Robert P. Fry, 234 W. Orange Grove, Arcadia.

The program for the evening will be a resume of current best sellers by Miss Hazel G. Long, a teacher in the Pasadena school system for many years.

Mrs. Charles A. Klingerman, president, will preside over the business meeting. Plans will be discussed for a spring benefit to raise money for scholarships, the major philanthropy of Delta Delta Delta.

Church Is for All

"There goes that young preacher man that took over the village church. He's out tryin' to learn all he can about this country and the ways of us folks. Funny, he came out here from some town back East and everybody thought he would be tryin' to make us all over like the people he knew back home. We thought he wouldn't last through one winter. But that young fellow is made of better stuff than any of us, as would be proved if the situation were turned around. He's become one of us, too.

"And that ain't all. He's got the folks in our community goin' to church and likin' it. Always before church was mostly for our women folks and kids, but not any more. He's sold us on the idea that we all need the church. Since I started goin' it has helped me over many a rough spot. My pictre of it is that everyone needs the church."

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in this space.

Bentley Schaad Exhibit Shows Color and Form

By Frode N. Dann

Friends of the Sierra Madre Public Library present an excellent display of paintings by Bentley Schaad, one of the outstanding young artists of the Southland, through the month of January.

Schaad is a painter to whom form and color are major compositional elements. What he has to say (and he has much) must be stated without slush and fumble.

In a period where much casual doodling finds its way into frames and occupies much space on exhibition walls, it is refreshing to find works that reveal the artistically solid and philosophically well-balanced nature of their creator.

WHILE THE art world abounds with people who search frantically for new ways, Bentley Schaad develops steadily within his own, honest, sincere approach, and the result is a mature, personal kind of art communication that will keep its validity and act as a stabilizer through times of many fads.

The plain and simple facts in realistic works such as "Banana Stalk" and "Pomogranates" are presented in unaffected ways and are esthetically satisfying, as are the abstracted ideas in "Space Tangibles" and "Plant Form."

When feeling and knowledge in a painter combine into expressions where esthetic experience prevails over descriptive requirements, the result is usually pure art.

IT IS WORTH noting that Schaad never falls for delightful, realistic details and that he always will subjugate nature's charms to artistic advantage by reducing the specific to a minimum. Highlights and complex textures, if used, become restrained elements of composition to be used for esthetic—not descriptive—purposes.

Rhythmic composition with dynamic balance and harmonious color are characteristics of these paintings.

For the art historian who scrutinizes and takes notes for the sake of tabulating influences there is no easy analysis in this painter's work. The obvious would be too superficial. For Schaad has long ago paid his indebtedness to masters of the past by showing his own personal, original, creative form.

March of Dimes Seeks Funds for Rehabilitation

"Operation Comeback" has been launched in Sierra Madre and throughout the nation as the March of Dimes starts its 20th polio mercy fund appeal on the dramatic note—"Survival Is Not Enough." The local drive is under the sponsorship of the Civic Club.

It was announced by Mrs. James L. McCoy, chairman of the Sierra Madre drive, that most of the money being sought in the 1958 campaign is needed to help disabled polio patients stage comebacks from helplessness to usefulness.

Although the March of Dimes-developed Salk vaccine has prevented many new paralytic polio cases, a costly care and rehabilitation program for past polio cases is planned for the coming year.

MRS. McCOY noted that modern rehabilitation can benefit one of three persons handicapped by polio. This year a survey is being made of more than 300,000 post-polio cases for revaluation of their condition in the light of new rehabilitation techniques in the hope of bringing them new lives of dignity and usefulness.

This, she declared, is "Operation Comeback."

Last year patients receiving March of Dimes care totaled 57,800, of whom 53,000 were victims of attacks in previous, pre-Salk years. Since most of this cost is in the form of continuing care for patients stricken in preceding years, the obligation will continue next year with very little letup, it was pointed out.

Additional funds are necessary for an expanded research program to explore many new aspects of virology, for the training of professional workers in the rehabilitation and science research fields, and for a still urgent program of public education to encourage use of the Salk vaccine.

"WE MUST pledge ourselves gy giving generously of our dime sand dollars to assist those for whom survival is not enough and who still now need help," Mrs. McCoy said.

"Until the polio-disabled have been given every aid humanly possible to restore them to normal lives, it cannot be said that polio has been conquered."

Church to Hold Friendship Week

Sixty religious census takers of the Faith Lutheran Church, 835 Hastings Ranch Drive, completed their religious census of Upper and homes last Sunday in approximately two and one-half hours, according to Kenneth Euken, survey chairman.

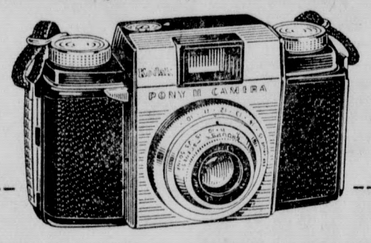

Tabulations of the survey have not yet been completed. This census was one of the activities of the parish in preparation for Friendship Week to be observed during the last week in January. In preparation for this special week, the congregation morning by J Cranor Richter, publicity chairman, and Donald Frokjer, rally chairman

News of the Churches

CONGRATULATIONS—Rev. Harley Gibbs Smith Jr., rector of the Church of the Ascension here, welcomes Rev. Harlan Weitzel, new assistant priest at the church.

Church of the Ascension Welcomes Rev. Weitzel

New assistant priest at the Church of the Ascension is Rev. Harlan Weitzel, who will be welcomed this Sunday, Jan. 19, following the 10:30 mass at a reception at the church.

Rev. Weitzel, a former resident of Altadena, was brought up in the parish. He attended Occidental College and Nashotah Seminary in Milwaukee, Wis. Rev. Weitzel was ordained last year by Suffragan Bishop Campbell of Los Angeles.

Prior to coming to Sierra Madre, Rev. Weitzel served in Anaheim. At present he is residing at 77 N. Lima. After Feb. 1, he will make his home with his mother, Mrs. Vonah Weitzel, at 190 E. Alegria.

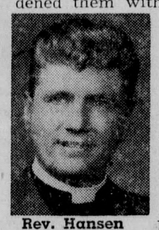

Following the reception for Rev. Weitzel, the annual parish meeting will be held at 12 noon in the Parish House with Father Harley G. Smith presiding. Various organization reports will be presented at this time.

Visiting the sisters at the convent is Mother Friedswide, Reverend Mother General, Sisters of St. Mary's convent, Peekskill, N.Y.

A stroke of good luck may make a man great, but it takes a lot of hard work to keep him that way.

MISSION BELL

Rev. Hansen

SOCIAL EVENTS of His days on earth were enjoyed by Jesus Christ. He gladdened them with His presence. He chose a village wedding (John 2:1-11) as the scene of His first miracle. By changing water into wine, He saved a bride from embarrassment and added joy to the feast.

PLEASE NOTE that Christ was at this wedding by invitation. His name should head the invitation list of every wedding. If we ask His presence to sanctify our marriages and the homes and families established, our divorce statistics would go way down!

THE MIRACLE here is one of creation, in line with the opening note of John's Gospel, "without Him was not anything made that was made." His creative act saved the day at the wedding in Cana of Galilee. He can save the day for us, for He is always a bringer of joy! Why should He only be called in for funerals and other times of sorrow? Why wait for the deathbed? Christ is eager now, and always, to bless our homes, families, vocations, births, weddings, and to hear us say daily, "Come, Lord Jesus, be our Guest!"

TODAY'S THOUGHT—There is a difference between making a good living and living a good life.

—The Rev. RAY E. HANSEN

United Lutheran Church

Sermon: Beginning of Miracles

Rev. Hansen To Preach On Miracles

"Miracles are happening every day in this world, and everywhere we can see the hand of God helping mankind by transcending natural laws," said the Rev. E. Hansen, pastor of the United Lutheran church, 270 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., in announcing his sermon topic for the 10 a.m. worship Sunday, Jan. 19. He will preach on "The Beginning of Miracles" which is based on John 2:1-11 and tells of Christ changing water into wine at the wedding feast in Cana.

"It is easier for us to believe that God knows all things than to believe God can do all things," the pastor said. "To understand this beginning of miracles it is important to know that believing in God does make some difference. The miracles of Jesus revealed the power of God. You do not read these stories merely to discover a series of remarkable stories, but through them to discover the power of God touching the needs of men and women and children."

HE ASKED, "Why is it so difficult for modern Americans to recognize that God is powerful, that His love is real, that He is concerned for us?"

Pastor Hansen pointed out that God meets human weakness with His strength, man's littleness with His greatness. "When we have stretched to the fullest tiptoe of our achievement, God's majesty is beyond. If we can grasp this understanding, we are at the threshold of believing in the miracles of His great love for us."

The chapel choir, directed by Miss Eileen Manning, will sing an Epiphany selection, "O Thou, Who By A Star Didst Guide."

At the 9 a.m. Sunday school service, the flannelgraph series on "The Life of Christ" will be continued.

Rev. Hansen to Attend Meeting

Rev. Ray E. Hansen, pastor of the United Lutheran Church, 270 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., will attend a meeting of the Pacific Southwest Synod Parish Education Committee Saturday, Jan. 18, at the Synod headquarters in Los Angeles.

Plans for pre-confirmation youth rallies will be made by the committee at this time. The United Lutheran Church will soon begin outlining its own youth rally to held in the near future.

Rabbi Steckel Leads Service

Rabbi Charles W. Steckel, spiritual leader of the Foothill Jewish Community Center, will conduct Friday evening services Jan. 17 commencing at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi Steckel attended a Conference of Rabbis recently. His sermon this week will be "A Report on the Rabbis Conference." Cantor Salo Blumenthal will assist during the services by chanting the hymns and prayers. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Chozen, Arcadia, will be the hosts for the Oneg Shabbath following the services. Sabbath morning services will commence at 9 a.m. conducted by Rabbi Steckel.

Home Builders Meet Thursday

An open meeting of the Home Builders of the Bethany Church will be held at the home of Mrs. David Roeff, 125 Lowell St. at 7:45 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 23.

Speaker for the occasion will be David I. Gilfillan, well-known garden editor and radio personality. He will show a film and speak on "Planting and Care of Bare Root Roses." Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Roeff at EL 5-9882.

VOYAGERS' BIRTHDAY

The Voyagers Club of Bethany Church will meet Friday at 6:45 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. This month's meeting of Bethany's young married couple's club should prove to be a highlight in its history. The group is over three years old and plans to celebrate the event by reviewing the outstanding parties of the past three years. For reservations call the church office, EL 5-1409.

St. Rita's Hosts Area Institute At Big Conference

An area Institute Conference will be held Friday, Jan. 17, at St. Rita's Parochial School for the Sisters of St. Francis and the lay teachers of St. Rita's.

This conference will be under the supervision of Mother Inez. Twenty parochial schools in the Los Angeles diocese will be represented.

Father Thomas O'Malley, pastor of St. Rita's Parish, will host approximately 200 guests during this all-day conference. Monsignor P. J. Dignan Archdiocesan superintendent of the Los Angeles parochial schools, will address the delegates at the opening of the conference.

Sister Olivet of Mt. Alverno will speak and give demonstrations on modern trends in teaching arithmetic. Father Klyne, assistant superintendent of the Archdiocesan of the Los Angeles Parochial Schools, will also speak.

The Villa Cabrini Chorus, directed by Mrs. Richard Biggs of Hollywood, will be the featured entertainment. St. Rita's Guild will serve refreshments.

The day will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Fortnighters Plan Discussion Group

Fortnighters, adult discussion group at the Congregational Church, will search for the relationships between love and discipline when they meet in the Church parlor Friday, Jan. 17. at 8 p.m.

Beginning with Jesus' dictum that one must become as a little child, the group will seek to explore the meaning of spiritual growth, both as a response to outer love, and to inner discipline. The expression of love as discipline in the home will also be explored. Parents, and others interested, are especially invited to attend.

Rev. Schaper to Talk on Job

Dr. Schaper, pastor of the Bethany Church, will continue his series of sermons on the book of Job this Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

Sunday evening at 7 p.m. he will continue his series on the Evangelists of the New Testament as Bethany looks forward to its coming evangelistic campaign with Fred Brown, Feb. 9-16. Dr. Schaper will be speaking this Sunday evening on "Operation Andrew."

SUNDAY SERMON

God, as the source and substance of life, is the theme of the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. The Golden Text of the sermon is this song of the Psalmist, David (27:1), "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?"

SUNDAY SERMON

"What Religious Science Does" will be the subject of the Sunday Morning Worship Services, Jan. 19, at 9:15 and 11:00 a.m., by Dr. Ethel Barnhart, at the Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 S. Rosemead Blvd., Pasadena.

Methodists To Show Film On St. Paul

"Magnificent Adventure," a 75 minute color film on the life of Paul, will be shown in the Sanctuary of the Sierra Madre Methodist Church, 695 West Sierra Madre Blvd., Sunday. Jan. 19, at 4:30 and 7 p.m.

This picture is a "must" for family viewing and to make this possible, parents with small children may bring them to the nursery where competent care will be provided. Older children and youth will want to attend the showing of this outstanding film, according to Dr. Chilton C. McPheeters, minister.

Members, friends, and residents of the community are cordially invited to attend. An offering will be received to help defray expenses.

Local Guild To Visit Hospital

Sierra Guild to Children's Hospital held its first meeting of the new year yesterday in the home of Mrs. M. K. Hopkins 513 San Gabriel Court.

All members brought a white elephant for a silent auction.

Following a business meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. H. C. Tumilty, the nominating committee, Mrs. John Hawkins, man; Mrs. George E. Leonard and Mrs. Mel Pratt, made their report.

Also on the agenda was a discussion of candidates for membership in the guild.

Both associate and regular members of the guild are invited to attend the Board of Associates meeting at Children's Hospital Jan. 23 at 10 a.m. for their annual tour of the hospital.

Youth Group Hold Sukiyaki Supper

The Pilgrim Fellowship, high school youth group at the Congregational Church will have a "Japanese Night" this coming Sunday, when they share a Japanese "Sukiyaki" supper, prepared under the direction of Mrs. Frank Uyematsu, and hear a report from Mr. Sherwood Moran, for many years a teacher in Christian colleges in Japan.

The dinner will be served in the primary room of the church, which will be transformed into a Japanese dining room for the occasion. Diners will sit on floor-mats and eat off low tables. The room will be decorated in Japanese style. The Fellowship Commission, under the leadership of Douglas Dexter, will be in charge of arrangements.

LAPSON PRESENTS PICTURES

Sunday School children at the Foothill Jewish Community Center, Temple Beth Israel, will be given a special treat during their assembly Sunday, Jan. 19 at 11 a.m. when William Lapson of Arcadia shows pictures of his trip around the world. Parents are invited to share in this unusual treat.

Rites Held for Mrs. Rose Rosen

Mrs. Rose Rosen, 255 N. Lima, died Jan. 7. A resident of Sierra Madre for the past 35 years, Mrs. Rosen was a charter member of the Foothill Jewish Community Temple and an active member of the community.

Mrs. Rosen is survived by her husband, Louis J. Rosen, her son, M. William Rosen, and her three daughters, Mrs. June Cher, Mrs. Miriam Storrier and Fay Rosen.

FIRE FLAMES

By Chief James Heasley

The favorable report for the past year was well accepted and elicited many congratulations, Bill Diemer of the Fire Department is not entirely a pessimist, but he did say, "That may only be the calm before the storm."

And by all appearances, he may have hit the nail on the head.

Four fire calls have already reached the station for the early part of January, any one of which could have ben serious, and one of them a near death.

THREE OF these fires happened in the daytime, when the fire chief is on duty, and on each occasion an early arrival of the chief prevented not only a call for the Fire Department, but the prevention of a serious fire.

One was caused by hot ashes from a smoker's pipe, discovered only after the couch he sat on filled the room with smoke. He was not asleep. Much credit must be shown the individual for prompt and efficient action by the removal of the couch from the house and calling the Fire department.

Another fire was reported by a tenant of an apartment house. Investigation found that a heating system motor was stalling and emitting smoke during the absence of the tenant in whose apartment the motor was confined. According to repairman, the motor lacked recent oiling.

The other fire that did not need the entire Fire Department concerned trash left at the parkway, for a little boy to apply a match found in his father's car. This was easily extinguished with a neighbor's garden hose. Once more the value of garden hose is exemplified.

THE MOST recent fire call happened in the wee hours of the morning. A man alone in the home had gone to bed and continued to smoke. He was awakened by the smoke and immediately called the Fire Department.

To him, the arrival must have seemed a long time, but considering all things, it was splendid. The firemen arrived in time to remove the mattresses before actual flame had risen.

Reports consider the problem of smokers, who fall asleep in bed or upon a couch, about the most dangerous habit and the cause of many deaths.

Exchange Club Hears E. R. Mitchell

E. R. Mitchell, manager, First Western Bank, Sierra Madre, spoke before members of the Exchange Club of Altadena this week on his experience in the Pacific Theater of Operations, which included the accepting the surrender of the Japanese Island of Hokkaido.

Mitchell, a lieutenant colonel, was at that time acting chief of the Counter Intelligence Corps.

"Seven of us flew to Hokkaido as an advance party to accept the Island of Hokkaido," he said. "The Japanese were mildly shocked that we Americans as civilized people would come in to accept the surrender on Sunday," he said.

"Our advance party had to walk about a third of a mile to the island's army headquarters between two rows of Jap infantrymen who stood rigidly at attention in full field dress and with fixed bayonets," he recalled.

"Our interpreter couldn't understand that particular brand of Japanese and they couldn't understand him. We had to resort to sign language until we found a hotel owner who could speak English," he continued.

Generally, the Japs cooperated, although they did ask the shinto shrines to be declared off limits. Investigation later revealed that army provisions had been cached in the shrines for eventual sale on the black market," he said.

"The Jap industrialists said they knew six months after the war had started that they would lose. They just couldn't get the materials needed in waging war. Our Navy, particularly our subs, had seen to that," he concluded.

Ellsworth Dinwiddie was the chairman, with Stanley A. Blush, president, presiding.

Make These 3 Choices and you'll be HOT WATER HAPPY shower after shower after shower!

Choose a Gas Water Heater!
Gas heats water three times faster... easily keeps ahead of the demands of automatic washing machines, dish washers and growing families. Gas costs less, too.

Choose Right Size!
Your plumber's approved sizing chart shows the proper size automatic Gas water heater for your family. Don't buy an inadequate heater. It overworks—won't last as long nor serve you as well as the right size heater.

Choose Quality!
One good way to select a quality Gas water heater that won't rust is to make sure it carries the Verified Long Life Seal shown here—or insist on a 10-year warranty when you order.

It's easy to buy a new automatic Gas water heater. You can give your plumber all the details he needs over the telephone. You may even arrange convenient terms, credit and financing with him over the telephone.

The Kulinary Kettle . . .

Creative Cookery Abounds At Maloney Household

By Toni Maurin
SY. 7-9634

It is understandable to me why so many people asked me to call Bill Maloney of 32 S. Sunnyside.

He not only cooks but he is a gourmet. He "creates" his dishes, including the following which can be prepared well in advance.

They entertain informally and their guests often spend an hour over cocktails and hors-d'oeuvres. He uses rum as a base for his cocktail because it takes on the flavor of whatever is used in combination with it.

Use 4½ parts rum, 4½ parts grapefruit - pineapple juice, one part cherry herring, a dash of lime to offset sweetness and then add the crushed ice and blend in an osterizer or blender. Serve in double old-fashion glasses. With this one could serve the tiny smoked clams (found in cans at local markets) and one hot hors-d'oeuvre, like Rumaki.

RUMAKI

1 lb. fresh chicken livers
Bacon, enough to match the livers, one for one
Water chestnuts, one slice per liver

Brown the livers in butter to which you have added a pinch of fresh tarragon. Do not cook too long as they will be cooked again later. Put aside to cool, and slice the water chestnuts. Cook bacon until just limp; remove from pan and immediately wrap a liver and a water chestnut with bacon into a roll and secure with a tooth pick.

This takes a little time to prepare, but it is just as good prepared a day ahead. When ready to serve, heat at the cocktail table in a chafing dish minus the water pan. If a dip is desired, mix a cup of chablis, a few slices of ginger root, and a dash of soy sauce in a bowl. Plan at least eight to 12 Rumaki per person.

OLD HEN

Buy enough large stewing hens to allow at least one-third hen per guest. Cut up like a frying chciken, dust with flour and paprika, salt and pepper to taste. Cook for one hour at 450°F in a shallwo pan in which one-fourth pound margarine has been melted, turning once. When done remove to a cool place.

In a large ovenproof bowl, layer this chicken with sliced yellow onion and generous additions of tarragon, salt and pepper. When the bowl is full, pour on a 50/50 mixture of tomato juice and cream cherry wine. Cook in the oven at 350°F. for 60 to 75 minutes. Remove and chill overnight to gain piquance. (Do not cover dish till all heat is out of chicken.) When you wish to serve, heat at 350°F. for one hour.

This dinner needs two things to set it off, herb bread and a green of some sort.

In place of the usual garlic bread, try herb bread. Slice a loaf of sour - dough French bread the long way. Cover generously with butter which has had a fair sprinkling of sweet basil, a hint of oregano, and a good dash of savory salt mixed in. Sprinkle the halves with parmesan cheese and reassemble the loaf and slice crosswise for individual servings. Wrap in foil and store overnight if you wish. It can be heated with the "Old Hen."

HARICOTES ROYALE
(Fancy String Beans, four servings)

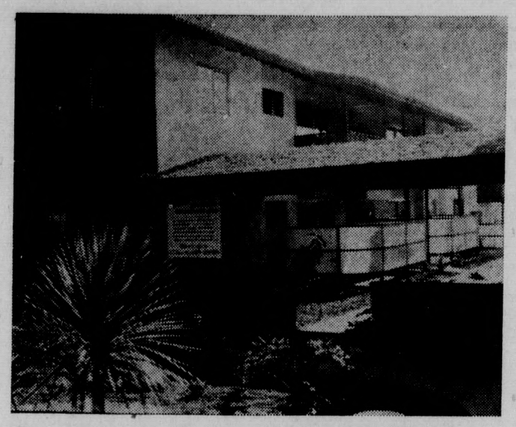

1 pkg. French cut string beans
1 cup fresh mushrooms sliced
½ cup chopped roasted almonds
1 cup roue

Cook the beans by boiling until just short of done. Drain and add the mushrooms that have been sauted in butter. Add the roue, mix and cook for one minute. Turn out in a casserole and sprinkle with almonds. This, too, can be heated with the casserole. To make the roue use a piece of butter about the size of a walnut, enough flour to make a paste, and the addition of chicken stock or chicken bouillon to make a thin smooth stock to add to the beans.

STRAWBERRY MUSH

2 cups strawberries well blended in blender
Juice of one lime
2 egg whites well beaten with ¼ cup sugar

Mix all ingredients together and pour in ice cream

De Luxe Apartments Built

For the last word in California living, Sierra Madre now has the new Sierra Palm Apartments, located at 540 West Sierra Madre Blvd. Recently finished, these apartments consist of 10 units, all two-bedroom unfurnished with about 1,100 square feet per unit.

Catering to outdoor living, the apartments feature private patios with an L-shaped heated swimming pool at the rear, complete with a large sun deck.

Large living rooms contain a dining ell, leading into the kitchen which features those new beechwood cabinets, formica counter tops, garbage disposals.

For the convenience of residents, there is a laundry room and drying deck equipped with automatic washer and dryer.

Lost Boy Found

and found Mark Kelly, 48, of 18022 Fondale St., Azusa, suffering a shattered knee cap.

The Altadena and Sierra Madre crews were prepared to carry Kelly out when a report came over the sheriff's radio that the former crew was needed in its own area to rescue another injured boy.

The Altadena group left, and the Sierra Madre crew carried Kelly in a litter a half mile up the canyon to safety.

Participating in the rescue from Sierra Madre were Ray Lorenzini, John Matthews, Bill Wark, Miner Harkness and Edward, Earl and Robert La Lone.
